235. Creation (6) S

Prerequisite: HON 225.

This course explores the human relation to the natural world through the history of thought about creation as well as through immersion in the natural world itself. Giving special attention to the governing metaphors—gift, dominion, task, matter, threat, resource—used in various times and places for creation and our relation to it, especially those made dominant in and through the scientific revolution. We will examine how our practices of relating to creation change our perceptions both of ourselves and of nature. The course will seek to overcome the everyday estrangement of most students from the natural world through activities to include field trips to the lab: the natural world itself. This course fulfills the General Core Laboratory Science/Group B unless the student's major or minor requires otherwise.
